Piloting WebEx for HPE Series—Now streaming live (with CME credit)!

We are excited to share that you will now have the opportunity to participate asynchronously with our TEACH Health Professions Educator (HPE) Series. We recognize that our participants are busy and, at times, may find it difficult to attend our regularly scheduled series. In an effort to enhance your ability to interact live with our sessions, we will be piloting WebEx availability for our HPE series this month. Instructions for joining the WebEx stream are located in the body of the calendar invitation. Hopefully, this will prove to be a successful launch and will soon make this opportunity available for several other sessions. To learn more on logging in to WebEx click here.

March Education Grand Rounds – Join us!

TEACH is excited to announce our March 2018 Education Grand Rounds Session, “Teaching Communication Skills in the Clinical Workplace” presented by Marcy Rosenbaum PhD (Professor of Family Medicine, The University of Iowa College of Medicine). You have three opportunities to attend this session on March 26 & 27. Click here to register for one!

Learning with Laughter

While it may be easy to create resolutions for the New Year, sticking to them can be quite a challenge. If you are still working on resolutions from decades past, you are not alone. Remember to set realistic and attainable goals for the year ahead to enhance your teaching and learning! Click here for a humorous reality check!

Happy, Healthy Educators – Three Good Things in the New Year

Happy New Year! As we all look forward at the year ahead, we are likely excited by possibility and simultaneously overwhelmed with new commitments. An easy way to promote positive thinking and build resilience for the New Year is to utilize the Three Good Things exercise developed by Dr. Bryan Sexton from Duke University. At the end of each day write down three things that happened that day that went well and how you contributed to the outcome. In the busy and exciting days ahead, take the time to remember the positive contributions you had upon your peers and learners. To learn more about the Three Good Things exercise, watch this brief YouTube video by Dr. Sexton by clicking here.

Faculty Highlight: Dr. David Brajdic

Creating a community of practice is critical to the TEACH mission. To encourage and recognize our current community members we periodically highlight the accomplishments and dedication of a stand-out member. In this months edition of e-TEACH we are highlighting Dr. David Brajdic, Program Director Carilion Clinic Dentistry and Assistant Professor, Surgery, VTC SOM. Click here to read more...
