Teaching Technology Tidbits:

Earn CME credit online and learn more about teaching technology!

CME Enduring Materials: We are excited to share that many of our TEACH activities are now available as CME enduring materials. What does this mean exactly? Providers are now able to watch a recording of our TEACH activities and receive CME credit for doing so after answering two brief content questions and completing an online evaluation. This is a great opportunity for asynchronous learning that will also provide valuable CME credit hours.

New Microlearning Videos: Additional teaching technology brief tutorials have been posted as a part of our Microlearning Series. To learn more about Poll Everywhere, Kahoot, or making Voice-Over PowerPoints click here!

TEACH MEMBER PERKS:

Congratulate our quarterly perk winners, self-reflect on your teaching, and join us for the upcoming TEACH Journal Club!

Perk Winners – Congratulations to Dr. Dan Lollar (TEACH Perk Winner for July – Sept. 2018) and Dr. Erica Reynolds (TEACH Perk Winner for Oct. – Dec. 2018) for being selected as our last two quarterly TEACH Perk Winners! Each quarter the TEACH member who attended the most OCPD and/or TEACH sessions is awarded a Java-the-Hut gift card. So if you are looking for stimulating faculty development and the opportunity to win an extra caffeine boost, join us for as many TEACH sessions as you can!

Teaching reflection – TEACH has recently purchased two small tripods that can be used with various cell phones to record your teaching encounters. These videos can be used for self-reflection or shared with peers to get feedback on your teaching. If you are interested in utilizing one of these tripods, please contact mjrudd@carilionclinic.org.

TEACH Journal Club – Remember to join us March 6, 2019 from 12noon – 1pm for our next TEACH Education Journal Club led by Dr. Charles Scheupner. To access the article and to learn more visit our TEACH website.
